Lookin' Around with 'Mac'

It is the habit of newspapermen to study candidates and issues prior to elections and to discuss personalities and issues with outright impersonal recommendations to voters. Actually, those recommendations are nothing more than one man's opinion and as such should not be cloaked in anonimity. They may have value to the reader in that the newspaperman has a better opportunity to meet candidates and study issues than the average voter.

This is the way I shall vote next Tuesday, with some brief reasons for these conclusions:

WARREN FOR GOVERNOR. Earl Warren has been one of the best governors in the nation, a leader of liberal conscience and constructive realism. His only serious threat is from an unemployed insurance salesman who happens to bear a famous name, a glib newcomer to the state with no governing experience but a willingness to promise everything. We have enjoyed sound government and state-wide prosperity under Warren; let's keep it that way.

KNIGHT FOR LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR. If you go for Warren, Knight is of course, the only choice as a running mate.

KUCHEL should remain as the state controller. It is a profound mystery why heavy financial support should boost Bittner for this position, which usually does not create a fight. Tom Kuchel has served well and he should be returned to office.

PAT BROWN looks like the best bet for state attorney general. San Francisco's fighting district attorney has a reputation for cleaning things up. Certainly F. Napoleon Howser should be removed from the office on which he has brought distrust and suspicion.

NIXON FOR SENATE. While my personal prejudices lean toward Manchester Boddy, the Los Angeles newspaper publisher, I remember too well the freakish ideas he espoused during the depression. I believe Boddy is an opportunist, that in the final test Helicopter Helen will steal the Democratic nomination from him. If Nixon can get the Republication nomination by the skin of his teeth, he will still have a hard fight against the Democrat in Novembed. I like Nixon's record, his energy, and his right thinking. At least, he is going to have my vote.

FRANCIS LINDSAY, in a long chat the other day, did more to put me right on conservation, water rights, and power potentials in the sixth assembly district than anyone I have met in five months residence in the county. The Republican assemblyman, who has served one term is a leading opponent of bureau of reclamation control of the central valley project. He believes the people of California would be better served by handling the water and power development on their own, financing it through self-liquidating revenue bonds.. He believes in and practices soil and water conservation, exerts a tremendout state-wide influence in this field. Daniel Higgins of Auburn, his opponent, has received endorsements of labor and may show strength in the polling booth. But I'm sold on Lindsay, believe that he should have an opportunity to use his valuable experience and influence for another term.

On the local scene there is a strange and foreboding absence of contest. For nine incumbents in county and judicial offices we either vote for them or ignore them. And there's no point in failing to put your X on the line.

RICHARD W. HOSKINS, our incumbent sheriff, has introduced

UNPREDICTABLE ATHLETICS DROP BARTLETTS 9 - 5

Almost every possible play in baseball was dished up to the fans here last Sunday when the Nevada City Athletics thoroughly boxed the Bartletts of Placerville 9 to 5 in Pioneer park. Every type of hitting from a home run to a sacrifice and fanning the breeze to every type of fielding play except a run down and a triple play was presented during the game, and of course, best of all the home town prides won.

A three-run outburst in the first inning put the home boys in front to stay. Although Fireman Fisher had to fog them in after the seventh inning to save the game for starting pitcher Lynn Roath.

Jones, lead off man for the Athletics, has got on base in every league game save one this year and scored each of those times except one when he was forced at home plate against Colfax. Jones drew a walk, was sacrificed to second, reached third on an error, and scampered home in front of Jake Goldsberry's hit. Carpender balked, putting two of the locals in scoring position and Steady Stack singled them home for a 3-0 lead.

Wojack singled in the second, was sacrificed to second and was scored by Seay's double.

The Barts made it 4 to 2 in the third frame on two hits and three errors.

Fouyer lofted a home run into the creek beyond left field in the sixth but the Barts settled down and retired the side with a fast double play.

Buhlert tripled home Bedetti who had singled for the Bartlett third run in the seventh inning.

Seay opened the home half of the seventh with a single, Childers duplicated with a crazily bounding hopper to third. Goldsberry trying to sacrifice made a scratch single when Leavitt fell trying to field the ball. Seay scored on the play. Stack singled to load the bases and Fouyer was walked to force in Childers. Haddy skied to center and Goldsberry on the tag-up. Stack made the final home team score on a fielder's choice when the Barts tried a double play that didn't quite click.

The Athletics play the powerful Roseville Merchants tomorrow night in Roseville, the game scheduled to start at 8:30 p.m. The team will leave from Eddie's Place at 5 p.m.

40 ACRES BURN IN FIRST FIRE OF SEASON

Forty acres of ground were on fire Monday in the first major 1950 blaze on the Tahoe national forest. The fire started Monday morning in the vicinity of Cole's mill in the Camptonville district and was brought under control about 7 p.m. that same day, according to Gordon Lawlor, dispatcher at the local forest headquarters.

PLAYGROUND TO BE INSTALLED HERE SUNDAY

Members of the Nevada City Junior Chamber of Commerce and other interested persons, are scheduled to meet at the playground site at Pioneer park Sunday to install equipment which has been constructed by the industrial arts class of the Nevada City high school.

The equipment includes teeter-totters, swings, monkey bars and a merry-go-round and was designed and built by the school shop under the direction of Albert L. Wood, industrial arts instructor.

George Halstead, work day chairman, announced the work will get underway at 9 a.m.

Pot-luck luncheon will be a feature of the day. The junior chamber will provide soft drinks.

Other improvements scheduled in the long-range park program include surfacing of the playground area, construction of a barbecue pit, installation of picnic tables and benches, filtering and warming water at the pool and lighting the athletic field.

BRANDY CITY TO KEEP TWO SHIFTS BUSY AT PLANT

The Brandy City saw mill of the Cal-Ida Lumber company is on a two-shift daily basis, according to an anonuncement this week by company officials.

Cal-Ida plans to have 160 men employed at the mill in all operations. Falling and hauling has been proceeding for some time, the company announced.

Cal-Ida anticipates a production of 20,000,000 board feet this year, with most of the timber coming from Southern Pacific railway property in Sierra county. Eight independent loggers will operate on this land. Timber cut from forest service land will be handled by company crews.

The mill has been handling 110,000 board feet of pine and Douglas white fir and cedar and the double shift is expected to jump production to about 200,000 board feet daily.

Rough milled at Brandy City, the lumber is hauled to the Cal-Ida mill between Grass Valley and Auburn and reprocessed for retailing.

The company estimates a payroll of approximately $40,000 per month not including independent loggers and operators.

Baccaaureate services for the graduating class of Nevada City high school will be held Sunday at 8 p.m. in the court yard of the school. Invocation will be pronounced by Rev. John MacDonald. The high school chorus will render severa numbers. The baccalaureate address will be delivered by Rev. George Pearson, the Methodist pastor. Benediction by Rev. MacDonald will close the service.

GENERAL COLLINS' GRAVE FOUND IN TANGLED WEED PATCH IN PINE GROVE CEMETERY SATURDAY

Amidst the tangled grass and weeds of the growth of many years in the more or less forgotten plots of the pioneers of Nevada county in Pine Grove cemetery lies the untended grave of a general of the United States. Saturday while the Masonic lodge and the Veterans of Foreign Wars post were preparing graves for decoration on Memorial day, workers came across a weatherbeaten granite slab stating simply: "In memory of Brig. Gen. J. Collins, died Sept. 18, 1864."

General Collins held that rank as commander of the Fourth Brigade of the Fourth Division of the California militia at the time of his death. He was also serving as treasurer of Nevada county at the time.

To quote the Nevada Daily Transcript of Wednesday, Sept. 20, 1864:

"General Collins died of a stroke of apoplexy and his death is thought, by competent medical authority, to have been instantaneous and probably without a pang. Monday the general was in more than usual good spirits. He conversed with his friends cheerfully during the day, and at the armory in the evening related with zest the incidents of his campaign in Mexico. The evening was spent with great apparent pleasure to himself and to the great edification and enjoyment of his friends who listened to his modest and amiable discourse. Mrs. Collins discovered his absence at an early morning hour. At about the same time a near neighbor found him lying in the corner of the lot occupied by the general and dead. He lay in an easy posture as if taking a pleasant rest; the countenance was that of a peaceful slumberer. Death met him, but the old soldier was not frightened at the coming of the King of Terrors."

Gen. Collins, 62 years old at the time of his death, was born Feb. 8, 1802, in Harper's Ferry, Virginia. At an early age he went to Ohio where he grew to manhood. In 1825 he emigrated to Springfield, Ill., where he married the following year. He and his wife had no children except by adoption.

He fought his first campaign at the battle of Bad Axe, in the Black Hawk War, as a colonel under Gen. Henry. He later served for six years as a member of the council of the territory of Wisconsin. Although the Transcript did not so state, it hardly seems possible that General Collins could live so many years in Springfield as a contemporary of Abraham Lincoln, and to have served in the Black Hawk War without being a friend of the Great Emancipator. Lincoln was not a favorite of the Transcript and the great wave of millions of 19th century Americans who were friends of the martyr president did not become manifest until after his assassination.

When the Mexican war broke out Collins raised a regiment of Illinois volunteers and served as its colonel under Gen. Winfield Scott in that doughty chieftain's campaign from the beachhead at Vera Cruz to the Halls of Montezuma. Upon his return to Illinois at war's end the state legislature voted him a splendid sword as a token of its appreciation of his gallant conduct in the war. The sword was purchased by the California militia from his widow and The Nugget's last word on the whereabouts of the sword was that it was taken to Marysville in the fall of 1864. The Nugget is instigating a search for the present whereabouts of the sword.

The warrior left his home in Illinois on the last day of February, 1849, to seek his fortune in the gold fields of California and came to Nevada county where he remained the final 15 years of his life.

Collins was elected to the state assembly by the Whig party in 1860 and re-elected the following session. It was said of Collins that he never tasted "ardent" spirits of any kind, an anomaly of that day for a politician and a soldier.

GOLD FLAT WILL GIVE DIPLOMAS TO EIGHT TONITE

Graduation exercises will be held tonight at 8 p.m. in the Gold Flat elementary school for four boys and four girls, graduates of the school. James Snell, judge of the Nevada county superior court, will award the diplomas and give an address to the graduates.

The graduates are:
Ladene Henderson.
Suzie Setzer.
Connie Field.
Martha March.
Wayne Nelson.
Charles Arbaugh.
Melvin Boreham.
Randy Gray.

The graduating class has contributed generously to the March of Dimes, the Red Cross and other organizations. Through the Red Cross they have exchanged a book with a school in France, telling each other of their various learnings and activities.

Their sixth and seventh grade classmates recently honored them with a party and refreshments, and with the assistance of the school's Parent-Teacher association, gave each boy a brand new ball bat and each girl a box of colored pencils.

Monday a preview wire recording was made of tonight's exercises and the class song by Mrs. Doris Foley, county supervisor, and the children had the pleasure of hearing their own graduation program.

TAXABLE SALES IN COUNTY SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Taxable sales in Nevada county for the fourth quarter of 1949, according to the fourteenth report of the state board of equalization released this week, reveals a decided improvement over the thirteenth report. Nevada county zoomed to 24th in rank among the 58 counties of the state. Nevada county's percentage of change was a .96 percent decrease. On the previous list released in January Nevada county ranked 45th with a decrease of 10.39 percent, and on the 12th report ranked 56th with a decrease of 10.56 percent.

Taxable sales in Nevada county for the fourth quarter of 1949 totaled $3,825,000 from 777 licensed establishments, a decline of 18 for the calendar year. It was the first decline in the number of licensed establishments in Nevada county since 1943.

Taxable sales all over the state declined 4.3 percent over the all-time record quarter for the corresponding period of 1948. The sales do not represent expenditures for gasoline and food, major exemptions from the retail sales tax.

Fourth quarter per capita taxable sales in Nevada county totaled $193.01 compared to $271 state-wide. In a breakdown of how Mr. Nevada County spent his taxable sales dollar during the fourth quarter of 1949 the biggest share, 23 cents, went toward his automobile and accessories purchases (not including fuel). For his stomach, both eating and drinking, he spent 19½ cents (not including foodstuffs purchased from grocery stores). Other expenditures include: jewelry, .7 of a cent; clothing, 6 cents; drugs, 3 cents; furniture and appliances, 3 cents; fuel, 4 cents; homes and building, 12 cents; and hardware, 6 cents.

Breakdown of volume of taxable sales by types of business for the fourth quarter of 1949: apparel, $223,000; general merchandise, $313,000; jewelry, $28,000; specialties, $68,000; food stores, $240,000; package liquor stores, $88,000; eating and drinking places, $406,000; candy and tobacco, $10,000; drug stores, $128,000; home furnishings, $74,000; appliance dealers, $55,000; farm and garden stores, $32,000; fuel dealers, $169,000; building materials, $288,000; hardware stores, $210,000; motor vehicle dealers, $588,000; auto supplies, $223,000; itinerants and mail order, $5,000; hotels and resorts, $141,000; garages, $66,000; photographers, $10,000; repair and service shops, $50,000; contractors, $181,000; miscellaneous, $229,000.

Appliance and car dealers enjoyed the biggest increase in sales volume, followed by second hand and grocery stores, and repair and personal service shops.

Service stations took the biggest rap in decreased business, followed closely by farm implement dealers, photographers and fuel dealers.

WE SUPPORT RICHARD HOSKINS FOR SHERIFF

There have been charges of tolerance by the sheriff's office of slot machines in Nevada county and we have seen machines but whether they were there with or without the knowledge of the sheriff we have neither determined or proved, nor has any anyone else. We will prefer to doubt any rumors regarding "bribery," "protection" and "dictation by a boss" until they are proven true.

The slaying of two Shasta county deputies last week spotlights the importance of keeping an experienced sheriff in office. Any time there is a change in the sheriff's office it means a complete turnover of the personnel of the office with the resultant months of improper and ineffectual policing. The killing of the two deputies can be laid to inexperienced men who were unable to understand the criminal mind and who violated the cardinal rule of a police force that a young punk of 18 to 21 is the most dangerous criminal in existence.

Granted that Hoskins went into office four years ago under the same conditions of inexperience but the man and his force have now served their apprenticeship, and despite the current term being his first Hoskins has served as capably as any sheriff in the state. Hoskins was faced with the necessity of killing a bandit during his first year of office and came through the crisis creditably. We believe the police officer who captured the two punks who killed the Shasta deputies would have been fully justified in blasting them to death, saving the state the expense of trying, sheltering and executing them. There would be fewer police officers killed in the future.

Hoskins has modernized and streamlined his department during the short period of his first term, despite the hostility of a niggardly board of supervisors that has continually criticised, carped and ridiculed his actions in office. Nevada county, which ranks 37th in population in the state of California, ranks close to the very lowest in salary paid its sheriff.

The incumbent has been criticised for spending county money on mileage used to investigate a hypochondriac's complaints about annoyance by household pets. When minor complaints are investigated the major incidents become a matter of routine.

Hoskins has been criticised for taking the long trips out of the state and leaving the short runs to his deputies. Overlooked by the rumor mongers is the fact the sheriff receives only mileage on trips, with per diem expenses absorbed by the traveler. With the picayunish pay afforded the sheriff and his deputies, Hoskins has made the expensive trips leaving the break-even trips to aides.

Hoskins is criticised for never being seen on the streets of the towns of his county—that he is always away on trips, to conventions, and is "too big for his britches." We usually find Hoskins when we want to contact him—in his office or out on a job. And just as travel broadens a person, so the exchange of ideas at conventions broadens a sheriff's knowledge of crime prevention. A sheriff who would spend most of his time politicianing up and down the street would never learn his job and would never be a better police officer than he was the day he entered office.

Sheriff Hoskins has made mistakes. So have his deputies. But, where is the person alive who has never made a mistake? We only wish we had a dollar for every mistake we've made—we'd be rich.

The sheriff's race has been very quiet—an indication of one of two things. Either the lack of races in other county offices has resulted in a general apathy towards county politics, or the incumbent is in for a terrific battle for re-election. We believe the latter is the case. An out-on-the-limb analysis of the sheriff's race by our political expert (?) we think that Hoskins will carry the outlying precincts and Truckee, that Brown will carry Nevada City and that Grass Valley will decide the race. But don't forget that the Literary Digest and Gallup were dead wrong as prognosticators.—kww.

The British army has always had the reputation of being the roughest army in the world on its personnel. The last straw was the other day when GHQ ordered enlisted men to discontinue whistling at officers' wives and girl friends.

The other day one of the members of the High Graders had occasion to borrow the use of the telephone at the sheriff's office when one of the handsome deputies was on duty. The operator asked "Number, please?" in sweet and dulcet tones but when the H. G. had occasion to call a second number a minute later the same operator's voice was prim and proper. Hummmmmmm!!!!!! By the way, who is the operator with the personality plus in her voice?

From the appearance of recent front pages of the Grass Valley Union, summer or sumpin' is busting out all over.

Lest We Forget

Just Wonderin'

I Wonder now about our friends,
For 'tis a boon indeed,
To have a friend who shares our joys,
Our sorrows and our needs;
A friend whom we may safely trust
True, faithful to the end,
There is no greater gift in life,
I think, than this—a friend.

I believe it was Robert Louis Stevenson, who once said, "I hold my friends without capitulation." In that one word, capitulation, lies a hint that all of us would do well to follow. If you have a friend, hold him without capitulation. There are many little insects of the mind that tend to come between us and our friends; mistrust, misunderstanding, jealousy, envy, spite, and if we capitulate to their malignant influences we may lose that which is of true worth, never to regain it.

We do not have to be yes men to hold our friends; honest differences of opinion, if not carried to the extent of controversy may serve to strengthen a friendship between two reasonable persons and a due regard for the opinions of others is a desirable quality in every contact in life.

A friendship of long standing should not be lightly broken. Long years ago a little schoolmate and I lighted a candle upon the altar of friendship, and it lighted the way down through the years, until last winter she slipped away from the shadows of this sorely troubled world into the clear shining of that better day which knows no end. No doubts or fears ever disturbed that long friendship, the light we had lighted in our childhood burned until the end. It still burns in the heart that is mine for—"Life is ever lord of death and love can never lose its own."

If you have had trouble with your friend or friends, make peace before the setting of the sun; don't let something of infinite worth slip from your life, hold your friends without capitulation.

Nothing of material value can take the place of a friend; the satisfaction of envy, jealousy or spite cannot compensate for the treasure you are losing; refuse to capitulate, hold fast to your friend.

Oh, many a famous bonanza
Enriches its holder with gold,
But material riches are tricky—
Not easy to have and to hold;
But the wealth of the mind and the spirit
Lives on to the long journey's end,
An inexhaustible treasure
In the loyal heart of a friend.

Uncle Silas says, "When I was a young blade, B. A. meant a college degree, titled Bachelor of Arts. Now fifty years later, it means just Bayer Aspirin and nothing else at all." ADELINE MERRIAM CONNER.

Let not him who prays, suffer his tongue to outstrip his heart; nor presume to carry a message to the throne of grace, while that stays behind.—South.

SMITH IS DELEGATE TO U S. EMPLOYEE CONFAB

Included among the many federal employees from the Nevada City area attending the 20th national convention of the National Federation of Federal Employees in Los Angeles Sept. 11-15, will be Howard B. Smith, president of Local No. 1004, Nevada City.

Frederick W. Weber, manager of the 12th U. S. civil service district, and general chairman of the convention, stated that advance registrations from members in every part of the nation, as well as all U. S. possessions, indicate that this will be the largest convention in the 33 year history of the organization.

"The NFFE, which was organized to raise the standards and services of all persons in government service, is non-political and represents more than 150,000 employees in more than 1,000 locals," Weber declared.

Describing 1950 as a crucial year for federal employees, Weber pointed out that this year's meeting is not directed at asking for wage increases or other concessions, but will be aimed at bettering public service and increasing governmental efficiency.

The meeting will be highlighted by a banquet in the Biltmore bowl on the night of Sept. 13 at which time a number of senators and congressmen will be represented as well as many prominent motion picture and radio personalities.

PLACER COUNTY BIG TREE TREK SET FOR JUNE 11

Reviving a trek that was a tradition in the early 1920's, the Auburn area chamber of commerce is sponsoring a caravan tour to the Placer County Big Trees on Sunday, June 11. This year marks the 30th anniversary of the first organized trip made to the nation's most northerly grove of Sequoia Gigantea which is found on the Foresthill divide in Placer county. These trees are the oldest living thing on earth and inhabited the earth in abundance millions of years ago. Now there are only a few scattered groves and the group in Placer county is one of the smallest to be discovered. It consists of seven individual trees, five standing and two downs, ranging in size from 30 inches to 12 feet in diameter. The grove is surrounded by a dense, mature forest of conifers and it will forever remain a mystery how this small grove managed to survive some seventy air miles north of the next nearest grove at Calaveras.

The caravan will leave Auburn early in the morning of June 11 and journey to Foresthill over the county road which follows closely the original road over which freight was hauled by ox-drawn teams. This portion of the trip is marked by such points of interest as the grave of "Old Joe" a famous old stake coach horse who sacrificed his life in the line of duty during a holdup when he attempted to carry through to safety the passengers and express entrusted to him.

From Foresthill the trip to the trees will be one of outstanding beauty over the new Mosquito Ridge access road which was built recently by the forest service. This road has opened up a sportsman's paradise hitherto inaccessible except by long and arduous pack trains. This new recreation area has been virtually untouched by man and is destined to become one of California's most popular vacation spots for sportsmen.

Following a tour of the trees the group will stop at the Greek Store ranger station where a picnic lunch will be served. The return trip will be by way of Duncan's Peak, Secret House, Robertsons Flat, and Westville to Foresthill where the caravan will stop for dinner.

Now a thriving lumber community, Foresthill is one of the most colorful towns of the historic gold rush days in California. Among other remnants of the past still to be seen is the famous bell on the Catholic church, and on clear days its pealing can be heard in Colfax and Auburn. The bell is reported to have been cast in Russia for the queen of Spain, rejected by her agents, and shipped to the U. S. to be sold. From Boston it was sent around the Horn to San Francisco where it was purchased for $3,500 and eventually transported overland from Sacramento to Foresthill.

The tour is open to the public and advance reservations should be made through the office of the Auburn Area Chamber of Commerce.

NID FISHING PERMITS NOT COMPULSORY

Permits to fish the waters of the Nevada Irrigation District are not compulsory, according to Forrest Varney, manager.

Varney added the NID does not intend to patrol or check any fisherman on lakes or streams in the district. Varney said the issuance of the permit was merely an acknowledgement by the fisherman that the NID was not responsible for the fisherman's safety.

Varney added the NID does not have the time or money to conduct searches for lost recreationists.

The annual high school play last Friday turned out to be one of the best in a long time. Title was "The Family Upstairs," with members of the cast including Louis Walden, Bob Thompson, Darrell Moody, Maxine Ivey, Roy Draper, Sandra Pease, Diane Rankin, Lillie Sassamon and Kathy Cocherell. Directors were Warren Immel and Miss Evelyn Corr.

The high school chorus is scheduled to sing for the senior baccalaureate services this Sunday evening at 8 o'clock. They are to do the following numbers: "The Cherubim Song," "Great God of Nations," and "Now, the Day Is Over," with the solo being sung by Bob Smithson.

During the past week each class has been challenging the others to see who were the best sellers of tickets for the school play. The contest narrowed down to the freshmen and sophomores. In the final stretch however Mr. Immel's freshmen defeated Mr. Frantz' sophomores by a good margin. Final tallies found freshmen had sold $71.50 worth of the tickets, sophomores, $43; Mr. George's seniors $25; and Mr. Draper's juniors, $13.

Warren Immel gave his English classes the final quiz of the term Thursday. The test consisted of a vocabulary quiz of 60 words and five questions on pronouns, degrees of comparison of adverbs and adjectives and the six tenses for conjugation of a verb, and five different completers of a sentence.

Student body elections are scheduled to be held next week. Those eligible to be elected are: Patricia Burgin, Shirley Dames, Georgine Danos, Charles Degraffenreid, Joe Fisher, Frances Howton, Patcine Foote, Patricia Humphreys, Ruth Imus, Virginia Kellogg, Irma Kendrick, Kathleen McQuinn, Jacquelyn McDermott, David Mott, Helen Phillips, Dorotha Smart, Irma Steger, Al Underwood, Elizabeth Williams, Gordon Crane, Robert Foley, Shirley Hoar; Charles Coombes, Roy Draper, Doris M. Hedges, Allan Hewitt, Gordon Lageson, Dean Morrison, Paul Peterson, Diane Rankin, Martyna Smith, Pat Sturtevant, Robert Thompson, Joe Griggs and Sandra Pease.

The annual high school picnic will be held next Wednesday at Pioneer park.

OUR CONGRESSMAN REPORTS:

1950 National Airport Plan

The recently announced 1950 national airport plan reveals that some 45 airports in the second congressional district are eligible for construction or improvements to meet existing and anticipated demands for air service for the next three years.

This is a tribute to county and city officials as well as other groups and individuals for their interest in aviation as the number represents nearly 15 percent of all the projects listed for California.

When an airport is included in the national plan it is eligible for federal funds to be matched by a local sponsor which in most cases is a county or city. If request for matching funds is approved, the airport is then included in a construction or improvement program and work can be started as soon as funds are appropriated.

Local Projects Listed

Second district airport projects which already have been granted federal matching funds under the current program, and on which construction is under way or completed, are: Adin, Bishop, Cedarville, Dorris, Dunsmuir, Fort Jones, Jackson, Montague, Quincy, Redding (municipal airport) and Trinity Center.

Airport projects proposed to be started when local sponsors complete arrangements: Bieber, Corning, Happy Camp and Susanville.

Airport projects for which federal matching funds have been requested: Auburn Municipal, Big Pine, Bridgeport (Bryant Field), Hayfork, Lone Pine, Nevada City Municipal, Red Bluff and Redding (Benton Airpark).

Airports in National plan, but federal matching funds not currently requested:

Alturas Municipal, Beckwourth, Burney, Chester, Fall River Mills (Shasta Sky Ranch), Foresthill, Grass Valley (MacBoyle field), Independence, Leevining, Mariposa, Placerville, Roseville, Shingletown, Shoshone, Truckee, Weaverville, Weed and Westwood.

MOST CRIMINALS LACK EDUCATION TEACHER TELLS SAN JUAN PTA

"The balance is tilted in the wrong direction" spoke William Wilson, principal of Grass Valley high school before the North San Juan Elementary School Parent-Teachers association Friday evening in the ridge school, commenting on a comparison of the amount of money necessary to keep a prisoner in a penitentiary for one year and the amount necessary to keep a pupil in school for the same period.

It was the last general meeting of the organization for the current school year. In addition to Wilson, Del Raby, Auburn, assistant scout executive of Boy Scouts of America, spoke.

"Our sense of values seems to be a little warped," Wilson said. "Few prisoners are ever educated to the idea of being first rate citizens so we must use our first and best chance to prevent crime—the proper preparation we can give our young people in our public schools, should not be lightly looked upon by our people."

Two reasons were cited for attendance at school activities by our young people. First, to develop personality or special talent, and second, to develop the characteristics of friendship in each student to the extent that more than three friends can be claimed by each student.

Raby presented the boy scout troop charter to the PTA, the troop committee and the scoutmaster, Douglas Buckbee. Troop committeemen are Frank A. Addleman, Charles Hamman, John Phelan and Arthur Atchinson.

Raby also discussed cub scout program and following his talk the organization adopted a motion to sponsor a cub pack. Mrs. John Phelan will be den mother, and Hamman will be cub master.

Refreshments completed the evening.

GREENHORN TRUSS SPAN DROPS AFTER BEING HIT BY LOG

Center span of the Greenhorn steel truss bridge dropped last week when a supporting girder was struck by a log from a loaded truck, according to an announcement by J. O. O'Connor, road commissioner, following an examination.

O'Connor said the bridge will be closed until further notice to all traffic. O'Connor recommends that traffic to You Bet and the Steephollow area use highway 40 and Puckek crossing.

The bridge is in bad shape, according to O'Connor. The impact against a girder relieved the supporting strength of the cantilever construction and permitted the span to drop away. Temporary repairs by jacking the span into place may permit light traffic but rebuilding of the bridge will be necessary before heavy traffic can be resumed, O'Connor said.

SEWER BIDS TO BE OPENED HERE NIGHT OF JUNE 20

Contractors bids on construction of the Nevada City sewage disposal plant will be opened at a special meeting of the city council Tuesday, June 20. Terracing and grading of the site is being completed by the city employes, who will also lay the outfall sewer lines.

Financing of the construction of the sewage disposal plant was insured last Thursday night by a resolution adopted by the city council accepting a bid by San Francisco office of the Bank of America. Three other organizations submitted bids. They were Blythe & Co., Inc., and Weeden & Co., both of San Francisco, and John Nuveen & Co., Los Angeles.

The successful bidder offered the following schedule for retirement of the $155,000 bond issue during a 25-year period:

$30,000 par value maturing June 15, 1951, to June 15, 1955, inclusive, bearing interest at 2½ percent.

$50,000 par value maturing June 15, 1956, to June 15, 1963, inclusive, bearing interest at 2 percent.

$30,000 par value maturing June 15, 1964, to June 15, 1968, inclusive, bearing interest at 2¼ percent.

$45,000 par value maturing June 15, 1969, to June 15, 1975, inclusive, bearing interest at 2½ percent.

The bidder will also pay par value and accrued interest from the date of issue, June 15, 1950, to date of delivery, plus a premium of $259.

Of the $155,000 bond issue, approved by the electors of the city at the April 11 election, $130,000 will be used toward financing construction of the sewage disposal plant and $25,000 will be used to purchase a new fire truck and for other fire protection improvements.

The council appointed H. J. Ray, retired admiral, Miles D. Coughlin, city judge, and William Swain, airport manager, to an airport commission. The group held its first meeting Saturday at the airport and Ray was named chairman.

First report of the commission to the city council will be at the next regular meeting of the city council Thursday evening. Subsequent reports will be rendered on the basis of information received from the various state and federal agencies which will be contacted.

Verle R. Gray was hired as lifeguard at the municipal swimming pool at Pioneer park at a salary of $200 a month. Gray said he expects to have the pool ready for use next weekend, either June 9 or 10.

COLUMBIA HILL HOME DESTROYED BY FIRE

Mrs. Florence Hatcher returned last week to her home in Columbia Hill, reopened the house that had been closed five months and spent a long and busy day cleaning up. That night the house was totally destroyed by fire.

Mrs. Hatcher believes the fire started from a solvent soaked rag she had used to clean the floors, and which she wrapped in an old newspaper and laid on the back porch overnight.

The one and a half story house had seven rooms.

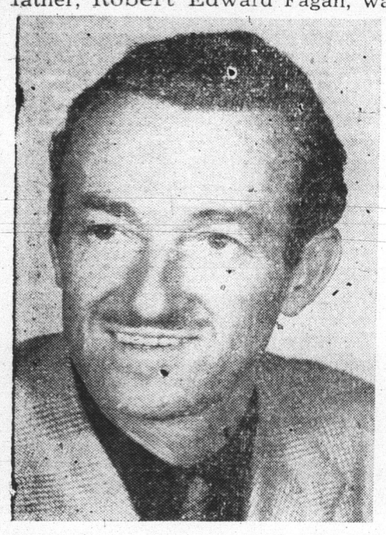
MEET YOUR NEIGHBOR

By Clayre S. Lipman

ED J. KOHLER

Shake Ed Kohler of North San Juan a few times, and you're sure to find pay dirt . . . slim, wiry, dynamic Ed always has a gold coin or two about him . . . a gold dollar stickpin, or, on special occasions, he'll haul out a chamois-covered roll of gleaming eagles and half-eagles . . .

Comes naturally by his various talents . . . his Irish grandfather, Robert Edward Fagan, was sailing his fleet of four-masters into S. F. from England in the early 50's. His other grandfather—one of eight brothers who all came to California before the Civil war—invented the first refinery to handle rebellious oils . . . it was located at Kohler, California . . . His namesake, Uncle Ed, dreamed up the shuttle that is now standard on Singer sewing machines. And the mining industry was also well represented . . . Great-great-grand-uncle Conrad had a gold mine in South Africa . . . another ancestor, R. J., made one of the first gold coins in California—as an employee of the S. F. Mint, we hasten to add . . .



But all this glamorous background didn't help San Francisco born Ed much when he was orphaned at the age of four . . . by six he was selling newspapers—2c in those days—on the corner of Kearney and Market . . . paid his own way through High School of Commerce and Munson's School for Secretaries. But plinking typewriter keys and scratching curliques in notebooks wasn't active enough for Ed. So after clerking for the old NWPRR, he broke into Bay County Seed Co. as assistant manager . . . handled a branch for the Marine Electric Co. of S. F. and San Pedro . . . managed the Sequoia Importing Co. . . . organized an Employment League . . . conducted an SRA survey . . . sold cars for Doheman Motors . . .

In between times, Ed spent several years in vaudeville . . . singing, acting, and managing a troupe called the Crooners . . . has also been on the radio and in legit . . . you might know his uncle Bill, Cousin Preston Kohler's dad, played a lot of Shakespeare in bygone years . . .

Besides being a Journeyman and Master Painter, an inactive member of the Teamsters and Chauffeurs Local, Ed is an inventor . . . was a specialist in submarine camouflage at Mare island eight months before Pearl Harbor. He stowed away for a trial run, and saw the way sailors had to feed five inch shell into magazines.

"Sufferin' sea-cows," howled Ed, who is nothing if not outspoken, even in the Navy, "Is that the way to go to war—with our hands?"

"What are you fixin' to do about it, Frenchy?" the officer asked.

"Soon's we get this pig back to base, I'l show you," our hero said. And he did, too. Rigged a gadget that did the same job safer, quicker and easier.

Ed received a special commendation for his invention, and after months of red tape, payment as well . . . thirty bucks. Ed is proud of the commendation, but a little uneasy about the money . . . hopes folks won't consider him a profiteer!

Another commendation followed, when Ed invented a mechanical paint brush to get inside the sheer of periscopes . . .

You might expect a man of so many talents to bake a pretty good cake, too . . . but that department's taken care of by Mrs. Kohler, the former Alice Hill, of Coldwater, Michigan . . .

Ed claims to be taking it easy now . . . all he's doing is farming, mining, timbering on his property in Sierra county, presiding over the North San Juan Chamber of Commerce for the third time, searching out new specimens for his coin collection, busying himself with community affairs, the Nevada County Historical Society . . . and campaigning for Supervisor of the Fourth District . . . It must be very relaxing . . . the man hardly ever puts in more than a 70-hour week . . .

Lives here for no better reason than he loves it . . . wants to see property values increased through wholesome promotion of the area . . . believes the future of Nevada county lies in its development for fishing, hunting, summer vacationers, and homes . . . "We've got something," Ed says, "beauty, climate and recreational possibilities. We need to do some advertising and public relations work so that folks down below get to know about us . . . then we need better roads so they can get up here . . ."

Sounds like a big job . . . but hard-driving, energetic Ed Kohler believes in sticking his neck out . . . then working his head off to back up his words. Yes, a big job . . . though, as he told that submarine skipper . . . he's fixin' to do something about it . . . and the chances are good he will . . . !

PG&E AND NID RAPPED FOR DRAINING CANALS WITHOUT NOTIFICATION

Sharp criticism of the Pacific Gas and Electric company and the Nevada Irrigation District was voiced Monday night at a meeting of the Nevada County Sportsmen's Club at city hall, for not considering sportsmen in drying up canals.

George DeSoto instigated the criticism by reporting the PG&E had shut off water in the Drum canal which supplies water from Lake Spaulding to the Drum powerhouse without notifying a sportsmen's organization.

Similar lack of consideration was voiced regarding the NID in the past.

The club voted to investigate planting of blue gills, crappie and black bass in Nevada county waters.

progressive police methods, employed a competent staff, and met the usual criticism leveled at this office. Although the office is underpaid, Dick has maintained his morale and given the county full value in policing None of the innuendo regarding slot-machine payoffs has been publicly substantiated; I'm willing to believe Dick has not bowed to temptation. Brown may be a good man but my vote will go to Hoskins.

J. PAUL BERGEMANN, Nevada City mortician, is my choice for coroner. Paul has contributed his time generously to community activities and has established a creditable professional record.

Of the three candidates for constable, I favor Joe Tredennick but have not made up my mind between Joe and Bill Shipley. Either man would make a good officer.

PROPOSITIONS . . . Three measures will appear on the primary ballot next Tuesday. I shall vote YES on 1 and 3, NO on 2. No. 1 provides a hundred million dollars in state bonds to help finance veteran housing and farm loans. It doesn't cost the state a cent; there is no reasonable argument against its passage. No. 2 is discriminatory, providing additional tax exemptions to veterans who are buying farms or homes under the veteran loan program. No. 3 provides that cities may use parking meter revenue for financing off-the-street parking. Since Nevada City has a major parking problem, this measure could well enable the city council to discuss means of meeting it.

Primary elections are important. Only half the people who are entitled to vote usually go to the polls . . . and that is a shameful thing. If you differ with my ballot selections, God bless you, that's fine. But carry your conviction to the polls and VOTE.

COLBURN VISITS HERE

Harold E. Colburn, candidate for lieutenant governor, was a visitor in Nevada City Memorial day. A supervisor of Amador county and owner of two drug stores, Colburn is campaigning on the theme that "a country boy is needed for lieutenant governor today. Governors have come from Los Angeles, San Francisco and Alameda for 40 years . . . we can use some rural representation in the back seat of the executive department."

OLD PICTURES CREATE FAVORABLE COMMENT

A display of old pictures created the most favorable comment in the Nevada County Historical Museum over the Memorial day weekend. They had been arranged in a multiplex, a gift of Wells Fargo & Co.

A huge book-like affair, it is in one corner of the upstairs room. The pictures are under the following topics: Nevada County Towns, Court and Officials; Lyman Gilmore; Transportation; Sawmills; Mines; Schools; Organizations; Nevada County Actresses; July Fourth Celebrations, and Nevada County Residents.

The museum was visited by 141 persons over the holiday weekend. Among former residents were Mrs. L. Ruth Rice of Glendale, and Mrs. Adelaide A. Lohman, Parlier. They were formerly Lillian Ruth and Adelaide Matthieson of You Bet.

The museum, located at 214 Main street, will be open tomorrow and Sunday from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Custodians this weekend will be Mrs. Beatrice Butcher and Mrs. Bela Jackkola of the Ridge road.
